Equity Matters

- African American infants are 2.5 times more likely to die in infancy than non-Hispanic white infants.
- Those who are poor have worse access to care than those with high income for all 6 core quality measures.
- Rates of preventable hospitalizations increase as income decreases.
- College graduates live nine years longer than those who do not graduate from high school.
Population Health

Population Health:
...the health outcomes of a group of individuals, including the distribution of such outcomes within the group.

Population Health Care

Specific strategies that address a single factor, outcome measure, policy intervention or group of individuals is relevant, and may be critical in some cases –

but they should be recognized as only a part and not the whole

As we redesign our health care delivery system, we have a unique opportunity to expand our focus beyond clinical care delivery to address the underlying issues that manifest in disease and poor health.
What are the crucial partnerships we must create?
Partnering for Total Health

Robert Wood Johnson Foundation

“We are issuing a challenge to individuals and organizations across America to forge new and unconventional partnerships with the goal of building a Culture of Health that benefits all.”

✓ CHI and KentuckyOne Health are on Steering Committees leading this effort

OUR VISION

In partnership with communities, healthcare organizations should identify and address individuals’ most pressing basic human needs as an integral part of quality healthcare.
What is the Total Health Road Map?

- CHI is partnering with the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) in a one-year planning initiative to create a “Total Health Road Map.”

- This initiative will help to set the course for CHI’s future strategic direction and Next Era of Healthy Communities.
What is the Total Health Road Map?

- KentuckyOne Health and Centura Health, based in Colorado, are leading the way on the journey

- Dr. Stephanie Mayfield Gibson, KentuckyOne Vice President of Population Health, chairs the national CHI Senior Advisory Panel guiding the course

- Ruth Brinkley, KentuckyOne President and CEO, serves on the CHI national Executive Steering Committee.
The Total Health Road Map will:

1. Outline where CHI is now in improving the health of the communities we serve

2. Articulate where CHI aspires to be in three to five years

3. Define what it will take to achieve the desired goals, including core activities around which CHI can create collaborative action and engage communities to achieve optimal health

4. Identify three to five priority areas of focus or innovation for specific program development
Where We Are Going

Three roads/domains emerged:

1. CHI as a health care provider
2. CHI as community organizations
3. Leadership competencies and governance competencies and composition
1. CHI’s role as a health care provider

- Addressing social determinants (basic human needs) as an integral part of quality health care
- Supporting healthy beginnings – early childhood development
- Addressing behavioral and mental health
- Eliminating health disparities and advancing health and health care equity, including within community, acute care, ambulatory care and primary care settings
2. CHI’s role as community organizations

- Changing role as anchor institutions
- Demonstrating measurable community benefit
- Lead / facilitate “health in all policies” voice
- Assure active engagement / coalitions to drive a “Culture of Health”
- Be a trusted health partner
- Advocate for health equity
3. Leadership and Governance Competencies and Composition

- New leadership skills, vision, position descriptions, compensation structures to drive this change
- Examine local board structures – composition, skill sets and accountabilities to be successful in new models
- Examine relationship of local, regional and national boards to define roles, accountabilities, measures of success
Major Milestone and Direction Ahead

Violence Prevention

Care for those who are vulnerable
CHI’s New Vision:

As a ministry of the Catholic Church, Catholic Health Initiatives will lead the transformation of health care to achieve optimal health and well-being for the individuals and communities we serve, especially those who are poor and vulnerable.
A Message From the CHI Board

....It starts with mastering the basics: providing high-quality health services that are convenient, affordable and attentive to the needs and preferences of consumers. Beyond delivering exceptional care, we also are called to lead and light the way for the physical, social and economic well-being of our communities. We will join our efforts with others to address the determinants of health, such as housing, crime, child care, access to healthy food, education, employment and social supports.
